

Dr Maddy Fellmeth

Biologist · Author · Shamanic Practitioner

Short Profile

Dr Maddy Fellmeth is a behavioral biologist with a Ph.D. and many years of experience in research, science communication, nature conservation, and environmental education. Her expertise spans wildlife ecology, biodiversity, spiritual ecology, and Indigenous human–nature relationships. Alongside her ongoing work as a behavioral biologist, she is the author of several books and practices shamanic techniques. Her first book, No Silence in the Forest, has been translated into eight languages and has sold thousands of copies. Through her YouTube channel, Old Wisdom – New Life, she brings together scientific insights, traditional nature-based perspectives, and practical approaches for modern life.

Selected Professional Experience

12/2021-06/2026	Board Member & Biodiversity Consultant, Aurelia Foundation
since 09/2019	Freelance Biologist and Author, Piper & Droemer Publishers
04/2018-05/2019	Postdoc, University of Potsdam
11/2015-09/2015	Museum Educator, Agricultural Museum Wandlitz
09/2012-09/2013	Environmental Educator, Bioversum Kranichstein
10/2010–12/2013	Scientific Coordinator, Goethe Graduate School

Academic Education

- 02/2011-10/2017 Doctoral Studies, Goethe University Frankfurt am Main
- 10/2003-12/2009 Diploma in Biology, University of Potsdam
- 02/2007-07/2007 Study Abroad, University of Tasmania
- 10/2002-10/2003 Magister Artium (M.A. equivalent), University of Potsdam
- 06/2002 Abitur (German university entrance qualification), Friedrich Gymnasium Luckenwalde

Available Formats for Media & Events

- Live interviews, keynote talks, and expert discussions
- Podcasts, television, and radio appearances
- Field excursions and workshops
- Science slams
- Shamanic courses

Area of Expertise

- Biodiversity & Urban Ecology
- Behavioral Biology & Wildlife Management
- Human–Nature Connection & Indigenous Perspectives
- Spiritual Ecology, Shamanism & Ethnobiology